From the Gazette of the United States.

TOM PAINE,

Invited to this country by his Right Worthy and affectionate Friend,
T. JEFFERSON.

No. I.

"Not that deteſtable fellow, Tom Paine, the democrat, whom we all execrate!"*—Yes, good, reader, the ſame; that very Tom Paine who compoſed a part in that banditti of atheiſtical murderers, calling themſelves the National Convention who made a formal, legiſlative decree, that Death is an eternal Sleep! The man who publiſhed in his own name, that the Bible would be more conſiſtently called the word of a Demon than the word of God; that it has ſerved to corrupt and brutalize mankind; that it ſcarcely contains any thing but what deſerves either our abhorrence or our contempt; and that for his part, he ſincerely deteſts it. The ſame alſo, who in his own name accuſed general WASHINGTON of cowardice, ingratitude, intentional falſehood and treachery. The man who, at this mement, is an outlaw for treaſonable practices againſt the government of his native country. A man whoſe abominable habits render him an object as offenſive to the ſenſes as his crimes make him abhorrent to the moral ſentiments of mankind.

Such is the man whom the preſident of the United States, has ſelected from the nations, for an affectionate friend and correſpondent; has invited him to our country under the auſpices of the government, making the invitation a national one, by offering him the uſe of a public ſhip; and has profeſſed to him aſſurances of his "high eſteem and affectionate attachment."

What could be the motives to ſuch a meaſure?——And what ought to be the feelings of the American people on ſuch an occaſion?

The motives ſhall be explained in the ſequel.

As to the feelings of the American people, we do not heſitate to pronounce, as our opinion, that every decent man, and decent woman, in the United States, ought to look upon this invitation, coming as it does, from the chief magiſtrate of the country as a perſonal injury; an inſulting violation of the laws of ordinary decorum. Every perſon of reſpectability and honor can readily imagine what would be his feelings upon finding invited into the ſame company and to the ſame table with himſelf, a common ſtreet bawler, or a beſotted, offenſive debauchee. Let thoſe who perceive a difference in the caſes felicitate themſelves in the diſtinction.

We offer no apology for the vehemence of theſe expreſſions We ſhould have cauſe to deſpiſe ourſelves, if, in ſuch a caſe, we were capable of offering one. Theſe are not the expreſſions of paſſion, but of cool and ſteady reſentment for a deliberate act of inſult to ourſelves and our country. By this diſgraceful act, our nation is rendered a bye-word, a butt for the finger of ſcorn to point at. Already has the reproach been caſt into our teeth from beyond the Atlantic. As Americans we feel the inſult, and as men we reſent it. In this we are not alone. It is the common ſentiment of the country; and ſo fully and ſo generally is it realized, that upon the firſt arrival of the intelligence, that ſuch an invitation had been given, the accuſtomed hardihood of Mr. Jefferſon's partizans for a moment forſook them; they ſunk under the preſſure of the public indignation, and without attempting a juſtification endeavored to ſolace themſelves and their adherents by a poſitive denial of the fact. Even this deſperate ſtep anſwered little purpoſe, for the National Intelligencer in a half official way, which ſhewed that the information came from the Preſident, or ſome one who had ſeen his letter, announced that Mr. Jefferſon had not invited Paine to this country; but that he had ſent a civil anſwer to a letter of Paine requeſting leave to take paſſage in a public ſhip, which would protect him from the Engliſh, and had granted the requeſt. Since this civil anſwer has appeared, and denial will no longer anſwer their purpoſe, ſome of the miniſterial papers have boldly come out with commendations of the letter; while others more prudent, have carefully avoided even a mention of it.

As to Mr. Jefferſon's conduct, we have a few general remarks to make before we proceed to a more particular diſcuſſion of the ſubject.

* Purſuits of Literature.

It is ſaid, that Dr. Johnſon being once aſked his opinion of the character of lord Bolingbroke replied, he was a villian and a coward; he was a villain for charging a blunderbuſs againſt morality and religion, and a coward for hiring a worthleſs Scotchman to fire it off after his death.

Perhaps the preſident or his friends imagine that we intend to apply theſe harſh epithets to him. By no means. Far be it from us to call the Man of the People, the firſt magiſtrate of the Union, by ſuch unſeemly names. We muſt beg him, however, to excuſe us, if by any of our remarks, we ſhould unfortunately prove that he deſerves them.

We all know that Callender wrote and publiſhed an infamous book, called Proſpect before Us, in which general Waſhington was groſsly abuſed, and our federal conſtitution contemptuouſly ſlandered, and that thereupon Mr. Jefferſon paid him a handſome compliment and a ſtill handſomer ſum of money. Had Mr. Jefferſon publiſhed this book himſelf, eſpecially while profeſſing the utmoſt veneration for Waſhington, and the moſt ardent attachment to the conſtitution, and even holding a high office under that conſtitution, he would have been a villain; he would have been impeached, turned out of office. and his name would have been handed down with infamy to the lateſt generation. The man who hires a deſperado to commit a crime which he dare not perpetrate himſelf, is not only the greater villain of the two, but is alſo a deſpicable coward—If any of theſe remarks apply to Mr. Jefferſon, the fault is his, not ours.

Tom Paine publiſhed an infamous libel addreſſed to general Waſhington, in which he declares his enmity to our conſtitution and to the adminiſtration of Waſhington. He alſo publiſhed a collection of blaſphemous buffoonery, addreſſed to the citizens of the United States. In this work, the whole chriſtian world, and even the CREATOR himſelf are inſulted in a ſtrain of ribaldry fit only for the ſtews. A man who can encourage and pray for a "continuance" of ſuch "uſeful labors," and, to encourage the laborer in the proſecution of them, can invite him to this country at the expenſe of the nation, may for aught that we know, deſerve the name of VILLAIN; and if he does all this in a ſecret, ſly, underhand manner, while in open day he is pretending reſpect and veneration for the characters and inſtitutions thus calumniated, ſome who take a pleaſure in the uſe of harſh language, may pronounce him a COWARD.

Mr. Jefferſon's views in patronizing the works of Callender have been recently and very ably explained. We hope, in our ſubſequent remarks, to render equally evident the cauſes which produced in Mr. Jefferſon that high eſteem and affectionate attachment to Paine, of which we have been aſſured from his own pen.

In our inveſtigation of theſe cauſes it is our intention to compare ſome of the moſt recent productions of Paine, with the writings and conduct of Mr. Jefferſon, and with writings which have been publiſhed under the ſanction of his approbation and patronage.

Should it appear in the reſult, that Mr. Jefferſon and Paine have long harmonized in exertions to deſtroy the reputation of Waſhington, and with it the adminiſtration of our government, in their enmity to the conſtitution of the United States, in its preſent form; and in their endeavors to bring reproach and contempt upon the Chriſtian Religion, there will no longer be any room for ſurprize at hearing Mr. Jefferſon talk of the GLORY with which Paine has labored in theſe ſubjects; nor will it aſtoniſh any one to find him aſſuring Paine of his high eſteem and affectionate attachment.

In a futute number we ſhall trace the different branches of the ſubject, in the order above mentioned.

SPANISH BREED OF SHEEP.

An account was given in our laſt, of the management of the Spaniſh breed of Sheep at the French national experimental farm, at Rambouillet. Specimens of this breed have been recently introduced into the United States, by colonel Humphreys, late miniſter plenipotentiary, at the court of Madrid; and by Mr. Livingſton, our preſent miniſter at Paris. The following are extracts of a letter from the hon. D. Humphreys, to Dr. A. Dexter, ſecond vice-preſident of the Maſſachuſetts agricultural ſociety.

"The importance of meliorating the breed of Sheep in our country, particularly in the article of wool, had been early and deeply impreſſed on my mind. In addition to the gradual proceſs of improvement, by beſtowing more care and attention on our native flocks, in feeding them well and croſſing the blood, (obviouſly ſuggeſted by reaſon and experience) two modes occurred for haſtening and enſuring the attainment of that intereſting object. The firſt to introduce and propagate an entirely new race, if a more perfect one could be obtained; the ſecond, to meliorate our ſtock by producing a mixed progency from our ordinary ewes by rams of a better breed."

"But before there could be ſufficiently good reaſon for juſtifying the trouble and expence of tranſporting an adequate number, it was the part of wiſdom to aſcertain, firſt, whether the breed be ſuperior in intrinſic value to thoſe which already exiſted. And in that caſe, ſecondly whether the race contemplated to be introduced is likely, when propagated there, to retain all thoſe qualities which conſtituted the original ſuperiority of value. And here I founded my opinion in the affirmative of both queſtions, as applied to a particular kind of Spaniſh Sheep, on the facts ſtated, in ſome inſtances, by reſpectable individuals; and in others by official reports.

"In Spain, two diſtinct ſpecies of ſheep, have for ages exiſted, the one named Merinos, famous for their ſhort and fine wool, peculiarly fit for carding; the other denominated Churros, diſtinguiſhed for their long and coarſe wool, more ſuitable for combing. The former are ſo precious as to be ſought with eagerneſs by all who wiſh to meliorate the ſtaple for the woolen manufactory in any country of Europe; while the latter, though much larger in ſize, are in ſo little eſtimation as never to be procured for exportation. My ſtatment and remarks will be confined to the Merinos. The height of the male is about the ſame as that of the ordinary breed in this country. The head appears rather bigger & ſtraighter. The ears are very ſmall. The eyes remarkably bright. The horns curved in a ſpiral turn. The neck ſhort. The cheſt broad. The members are more compact and thick than thoſe of our former breed of ſheep; and the carcaſe is thought to have ſmaller bones and to be more rounded in the hinder part. The body, face and legs, are covered with a delicate fleece, which grows amazingly thick, without any mixture of coarſer locks or hairs. This fleece, is remarked to be much more impregnated than that of any other breed, with an oily ſubſtance, apparently exuded in perſpiration. This animal is perfectly gentle, but quick, firm, and regular in all his movements. The female is conſidered generally as having the more characteriſtics of the pure blood, in proportion as ſhe approximates to this deſcription—yet the ewes are commonly deſtitute of horns."

"A few well atteſted facts will ſerve to ſhew the value of this race. None of the ſuperfine cloths made in England, France and Holland can be fabricated without the mixture of a certain portion of this wool. The price is more than twice as high per pound as it is for ordinary kinds. I ſhall mention in another place, the increaſed weight of the fleece, when this breed has been transferred from Spain to another country, upon the teſtimony of thoſe concerned in their management. That the fleſh is not leſs ſucculent or well flavoured than the beſt Engliſh or American mutton. I have had frequent opportunities to decide for myſelf. It is underſtood that the Merinos are more eaſily maintained and fattened than the taller & larger breed, inſomuch that there are perſons acquainted with both breeds who calculate that 200 of theſe ſmall-boned and ſhort legged ſheep may be kept in tolerable good condition, whare 20 of the other would ſuffer for want.

"To eſtabliſh a ſtrong preſumption in favor of the ſecond point, viz. that the race then contemplated to be introduced into the United States was likely to preſerve all thoſe qualities which conſtituted the original ſuperiority of value, I needed only to refer to the propagation of a breed from the ſame ſtock, with fleeces augmented in quality and undiminiſhed in fineneſs, in Great Britain, France, Holland, Switzerland, Germany, Denmark & Sweden. In the moſt northern climate to which they have been carried, they have ſupported the cold perfectly well, and even without ſuffering any injury from having been in ſome inſtances buried for a time under the ſnow. At the national farm of Rambouillet, in France, they are reported on good authority, to have not only reſiſted the unfavorable influence of a ſituation naturally too low and moiſt, but to have preſerved their wool in all its original fineneſs, and to have increaſed the weight to an aſtoniſhing degree.

NEW-YORK, October 8.

London Prints to the evening of the 26th of Auguſt are received at the office of the Mercantile Advertiſer by the ſhip Ocean, capt. Smith, who arrived at this port yeſterday in 33 days from Liverpool. A large portion of our paper being preoccupied, we are compelled to confine our ſelections to the following brief ſummary, which contains an abſtract of all the intelligence in the "Courier" of the 26th. An official copy of the Plan of the Indemnities in Germany, which is at length ſettled, and has received the ſanction of the French Government, will be publiſhed to-morrow.

LONDON, Auguſt 26.

Prices of Stocks:—3 per cent. Conſols 68, 67⅛; 3 per cent. Reduced 68; Omnium 9¾, 10½ diſc.

We received this morning the Paris papers to the 24th inſt. They are full of important intelligence.

On Saturday laſt Bonaparte repaired with extraordinary magnificence to the Senate, which held its firſt ſitting in the form and manner eſtabliſhed by the Organic Senatus Conſultum. Several plans of Senatus Conſulta, diſcuſſed in a Privy Council, were preſented to the Senate. One of them relates to the ſelection of twenty principal cities of the Republic, the Mayors of which are to be preſent at the taking of the oath by the Citizen who ſhould be named to ſucceed the Firſt Conſul. It may be inferred from this, that the ſucceſſor will ſoon be declared. The Miniſter for Foreign Affairs then read a report upon the indemnities, and the declaration agreed by Ruſſia and France, to be preſented to the Diet of Ratiſbon.

This declaration contains a detailed and ſpecific account of the particular indemnities to be granted to each of the German States.

There are to be three new Electors, the Margrave of Baden, Duke of Wirtemberg, and the Landgrave of Heſſe Caſſel. There is to be one Eccleſiaſtical Elector.

The Biſhopric of Oſnaburgh is to belong in perpetuity to the Elector of Hanover, if he abandons his pretenſions to Hildeſheim, Corvey and Hoexter, and other diſtricts.

Touſſaint Louverture has been ordered to Paris, under a ſtrong eſcort of dragoons.

Upon the ſeizure and ſtoppage of Engliſh newſpapers at Paris, the French journals are totally ſilent; but our Dover letter confirms the intelligence.

A mail from Liſbon arrived this morning, and has brought the extraordinary intelligence, that in conſequence of ſome miſunderſtanding between the French and Portugueſe governments, Gen. Laſnes, the French Miniſter at the latter court, quitted Liſbon very haſtily on the morning of the 10th inſtant, in conſequence the packet was detained two days longer than ſhe otherwiſe would have ſtaid. The Portugueſe appeared to be much alarmed at his ſudden departure.

The quarrel is ſaid to have been occaſioned by the Portugueſe Miniſter of Police having inſiſted on ſearching ſome baggage belonging to the French Miniſter, who remonſtrated to the Court of Portugal, and even inſiſted on the diſmiſſal of the Miniſter of Police, which being refuſed, he immediately quitted Liſbon for Paris.

At Greenock, August 24.

Brigs Recovery, Campbell, for New York; Moses Gill, Paterson, do. Betsey, Caithness, for do. at Dundee, to sail 25th August.

Arrived since our last.

Ship Ocean, Smith, from Liverpool, 33 days from land to land. Sailed in company with ship Packet, Trott, for Boston; ship Russell, Gibbs, for New-Bedford; President, of Wiscasset, for Savannah; and ship Venus, from Newport. Left there, ships Thomas, for Charleston to sail in a few days; Commerce, for N. York, South Corolina, for Philadelphia; India, for do. Rebecca, for Newburyport, for New York; Sheffield, just arrived from New York in 21 days; Diana, from Savannah. Sept. 14, in lat. 44, 40. long. 45, spoke ship ——, Howell, of Boston, bound from Jamaica to Bristol, out 7 weeks. 25th, in lat. 41. 14, long. 60, spoke ship Thomas, of Philadelphia out 39 days from New Orleans, bound to Liverpool.

PHILADELPHIA, October 8.

Yesterday arrived the ship George, capt. Rice, from Cape Francois, who informs us that on the 16th ult. all the troops, with the seamen and marines from on board the ships of war, were marched out of the town to check the motions of the negroes, who were advancing towards the Cape. On the 17th, at 4 o'clock in the morning, a gun was fired, and soon after, about half way up a hill, a few miles from the harbor, the battle commenced, and he, with the people on board the vessels in the harbor, could plainly see the firing from both sides, which continued very sharp till nine o'clock. They could perceive some time before the conclusion that one party retreated down the hill; and when the firing ceased, both parties appeared to be in the valley; from which circumstance, the seamen on board the vessels, suppose the French retreated. Captain Rice mentioned the observation to a French officer, who was saying they beat the negroes, when the officer said, "It was one retrogade motion."—This issue was kept a profound secret. On the 19th there was another action between the French and negroes near the same place, which lasted between two and three hours, but all was kept secret—But reports says, had the late reinforcements been detained a month longer, the negroes would by this, have been masters of the island.

The blacks were continually committing depredations around the Cape; they even stole the Horse of General Boyer, Commandant at the Cape and 2d in command on the island.

On the 18th of September in the evening was bro't to the Cape, by sea, loaded with chains, a black called Gen. Charles Bellaire, whom it was reported (for at the Cape you have no certain intelligence of any transaction) was appointed byt he blacks to be their commander and successor of Touissaint—Dessalines, (whom some say was jealous of him) having received or pretended to receive information that Bellair was building a fort on his plantation, detached a body of men, seized him and sent him to the Cape.

The arrette for the trial of Belair, capt. R. informs us was suspended by Le Clerc, but for what reason was not publicly known.

DELAWARE ELECTION.

Accounts from Delaware say, that Mr. Rodney, the democratic candidate for representative in Congress, has a majority of 957 votes in New Castle county over Mr. Bayard, the federal candidate—that Mr. Bayard has 219 majority in Kent county, and the Editor of the Phil. Gaz. remarks as follows of the only remaining county—"With respect to Sussex, little doubt can be entertained of its yielding a vast Federal majority. We learn that 2800 votes have been given in that district, and that of these, Mr. Bayard will certainly have a majority of near 1000: So that his election may be considered as certain."

Arrived on Saturday evening ship Felicity, capt. Reed, 70 days from Liverpool.

Sept. 2, spoke the ship Planter, of Richmond, 13 days out, bound to Falmouth, in lat. 40, 36, long. 42, 30. Sept. 3, spoke ship Criterion, of Nantucket, 13 days out, bound to Brazil, in lat. 40, 39, long. 44.

We congratulate the citizens of Alexandria on the rapid advances it is making towards commercial respectability. Not more than two years since it was a rare thing to see a square rigged vessel in our harbour; we now have our wharves lined with vessels destined for foreign ports.—Our merchants have generally received their fall goods, and we sincerely hope they will reap the reward of their labors, by extensive sales to good customers, as we are convinced they can afford their goods on as accommodating terms as purchasers can get them in any town on the continent.

The following is a list of vessels now in the harbour of Alexandria:

Ships Felicity, Philadelphia; Hunter, Alexandria; Fabius, do. Brutus, Portland; brigs Neptune, Alexandria; Union, do. Catherine, do. George, do. Fame, Newport; Enterprize, Philadelphia; Sukey, Salem; Polly, Portland; Regulator, Bermuda; Experiment, do. sch'rs Wm. Nelmes, Alexandria; Betsey, do. Sparrow, do. Harmony, do. Hope, do. Brothers, Boston; Bellona, Salem; Chance, Hampton; John, Vienna; Olive Branch, Philadelphia; Mary, Bermuda; President, Baltimore; sloops Harriot, Alexandria, Henry, Patuxent; Sally, Providence; Harriot, Norfolk. River craft 25.

At quarantine—1 brig, 3 schooners, 2 sloops.

Extract of a letter from a respectable commercial house in Lisbon, to a merchant in N. York dated Aug. 12th, received by the brig Sally, captain Lord.

"Our political news consists in the sudden going away of the French Minister General Lannes, after (as is understood) several squabbles with this court, of which he did not take leave, nor has he left any one as charge d'affaires. We hazard no conjectures on the consequences of such a step, which in ordinary cases would have been looked upon as a declaration of war. It causes some sensation here; and our paper-money, which was at 9 per cent. discount, is now at 12."

Adams's Defence.—Among the cant-ing impositions of the times, it has been perpetually rung in the ears of the people, by the democratic editors, that Mr. Adams, in his celebrated "Defence of the American Constitutions," had really defended, not our Constitutions, but the British, and that the book was no more than a covert recommendation of monarchy. The story is at this moment believed by almost every antifederalist in the U. S who has not read the book, but it is one of that nature which, as to the public, is hardly susceptible of any thing more than a flat denial, and that with most of these good folks passes for just nothing at all. But as I make it a rule never to let pass any opportunity to confront their assertions and opinions with their own authority, I therefore seize this occasion to republish the following extract from the British Town and Country Magazine for 1787, sent me by a friend. It seems proper to inform those who are unacquainted with Mr. Dickinson, that he is now and has always been at the head of the democratic party in Pennsylvania.

"Extract of a letter from a member of "the Convention to his friend in London.
"Mr. Dickinson says, that Mr. Adams's
"book has diffused such excellent principles among us, that there is little doubt
"of our adopting a vigorous and compounded Federal Legislature. Our illustrious minister in this gift to his
"country, has done us more service than if he had obtained alliances for us with with all the nations in Europe."

EXTRACTS

Of Letters from an American Gentleman in England, to his Friend in Philadelphia.

LONDON, July 30.

Notwithstanding the many noble institutions, for the relief of the poor and infirm, beggary assails the sight both in town and country. The whole island teems with disbanded sailors and soldiers, some without eyes some with one leg or one arm and some without either leg or arm—many of the objects are truly shocking; they take their stands at every corner, and when they can walk pursue you across the street, imploring in the most piteous tones, and with the most rueful and distorted countenance, a charitable farthing, and whether you give it or not they burthen you with blessing. Many of these wretches come under your windows, and for a penny sing a song, which a knife-grinder would give a shilling not to hear. The women hire children for the purpose of begging—and one who never bore a child in her life, will entreat a mouthful of bread for herself and twins, shewing at the same time, two nasty little urchins from under her cloak.

A PROPOSAL

BY SAMUEL BISHOP,

For publiſhing by Subſcription,

LETTERS

ON THE

Elementary Principles

EDUCATION.

By Elizabeth Hamilton,

Author of the "Memoirs of Modern Philoſophers," &c.

ON this intereſting and highly important branch of ſcience, ſeveral valuable works have, within a few years, been preſented to the public, among which the above, as it is the moſt recent, ſo is it pre eminently uſeful. Led by her ſubject into an inquiry concerning the nature of the active powers, and intellectual faculties of the human mind, Mrs. Hamilton has developed thoſe powers and faculties with a perſpicuity and ability which, while it arreſts the attention of thoſe who have moſt ſucceſsfully ſtudied thoſe ſubjects, muſt render a competent knowledge of them familiar to the moſt ordinary capacity. The ſuperficialneſs and frivolity of character engendered by the modern ſyſtem of education, have been long, and juſtly, a ſubject of complaint; but the particular cauſes by which theſe ſerious evils have been produced, were hitherto but imperfectly known, or little attended to: To trace theſe evils to their ſource, and to point out the proper remedy, is the ultimate object to which the meritorious efforts of this Author have been directed; and in theſe efforts ſhe has, it is believed, ſucceeded beyond the moſt ſanguine expectations. Such indeed, is the importance of the inquiries which form the ſubject of this work, and ſo great the ſucceſs with which thoſe inquiries have been purſued, that the happieſt conſequences to ſociety may reaſonably be expected to reſult from the preſent publication. To all it is intereſting in a very high degree, but to mothers of families, and others engaged in the formation of the minds of children and youth, it will prove an acquiſition truly invaluable.

The rapid ſale of two impreſſions of this work in England, ſufficiently evinces the high eſtimation in which it is there held: An American edition—equal to, and at little more than half the price of the Britiſh edition*—is now offered to the patronage of the American public; by whom its merits will, doubtleſs, be juſtly appreciated.

[An Extract from the above Work.]

"From moſt of the writers on education it "would appear, that it is only to people of rank "and fortune that education is a matter of any "importance. By ſuch alone can the ſyſtems "that are generally propoſed, be adopted. To "ſuch, therefore, muſt we believe them to be "excluſively addreſſed. To make fine ladies "and finiſhed gentlemen forms no part of my "plan, which has for its object the ſubjection of "the paſſions, the direction of the affections, and "the cultivation of the faculties that are common "to the whole human race."

* The price of the Britiſh edition, is fifteen ſhillings, Sterling, in boards.

CONDITIONS.

I. The Work ſhall be compriſed in two Duodecimo volumes, of about 450 pages each, & ſhall be printed in the beſt manner, on a fine Paper, and new Type.

II. The price will be one Dollar per volume in boards, payable on delivery.

 A very conſiderable number of Copies being already ſubſcribed for, the work ſhall be put to Preſs, and finiſhed without delay.
